

Woodhaven Swamp to Sasamat Lake hike

November 13, 2022

On a clear, crisp day, 13 members enjoyed the morning calm of Sasamat Lake. We followed the pleasant and well-groomed path past Woodhaven Swamp to the lakeshore, pausing to gaze reflectively and the perfect scene. Lunch was taken seated at picnic tables at one of the lovely beaches where we gathered for group photos. As we continued to complete the loop, bright green mosses glowed in the dappled sunlight. Though we came across a few tree fungi, not a single mushroom could be found. We'll have to return to hunt for them some more one day.
