

Trip Report: Seymour Canyon and Lynn Canyon Loop - May 6, 2023 please post

Inbox

Lina Sciggs

to me

Sun, May 14, 8:58 PM (12 hours ago)

At 0830, 5 BOC members met and drove together to Rice Lake parking area. The weather was cloudy but mild with only a few drops of rain from time to time.

From there the group followed the Baden Powel Trail along the Lynn Headwaters in Lynn Canyon until they arrived at a 30 ft. pool. There the group encountered a few people enjoying a cold clear water swim.

Further along the trail, the group crossed the Lynn Valley Suspension Bridge where they were greeted by a picturesque waterfall. As the group continued through the forest, they found many beautiful large trees decorated with moss and decided to give one a hug.

The hikers continued over a small bridge, then up the Fisherman's Trail along the west of the Seymour River and over the Seymour River Suspension Bridge. They veered off onto a smaller trail that opened onto a river rock bed where the group had lunch.

After lunch, the hikers continued up the Homestead Trail and at 1330 they arrived back at the Rice Lake Parking area. A wonderful hike was had by all.

Trip report and photos by Lina Scigliano

Many thanks, photos to follow in next email.

Lina Scigliano