Despite predictions of rain, this trip had sunny skies and great scenery. We walked from the Langdale terminal to Hopkins Landing Beach. From the end of the pier, dolphins surfaced occasionally -- such a wonderful sighting. After a bit of beachcombing, we proceeded to the Soames Hill trail, with its extensive staircases. The effort was worth the reward. Panoramic views from the top included the North Shore mountains to Vancouver Island, plus Keats, Bowen and Gambier. Three hawks performed for us at lunch, with their mesmerizing glides and swoops. The group then visited the village of Gibsons and enjoyed delicious ice cream before making the the return journey.
