

Brandywine Falls Loop: June 23, 2024

Inbox

Jim McCavour

7:55 AM (10
hours ago)

to me

Ten Reasons to experience this trail:

1. No rain. Despite threats from frequently changing skies, it was a pleasant day.
2. A spectacular waterfall -- height 70 meters -- only a few minutes from the parking lot.
3. Constant geologic reminders that we were in volcanic territory. These included basalt columns, large cinders, and lava heaps
4. The excitement of going Bungee Jumping ! Well, we watched others free-fall from the high steel bridge over the Cheakamus River.
5. A total of four bridge crossings, two over the Cheakamus, and one over each of the Callaghan and Brandywine Rivers.
6. The beautiful confluence of the Callaghan and Cheakamus, where green and blue waters join.
7. Peek-a-boo views of the Black Tusk, never fully revealing itself behind the clouds.
8. Bonus: Swimming in the aptly named Swim Lake, which proved to be highly refreshing.
9. Very few people on the trail, despite the fine scenery and well marked path.
10. Great BOC group of Catherine, Monisha, Amit and Yoko.

Thanks to Amit for doing the driving, and to Yoko for her fine photos.

Jim McCavour