

Mt Seymour-Brockton Point, Snowshoe Hike

March 6, 2022 – Gerard Laman

It was a beautiful Sunday morning when six BOC members and one guest started the hike at Mt Seymour to Brockton Point on snowshoes and crampons.

This was a perfect day to be on the mountain with snow and blue sky. The panoramic views were fantastic. After some steep climbs we reached the Brockton Point. it was too early for lunch so we continued our hike down some very steep slopes that were easier to handle on crampons than with snowshoes.

Close to the Elsay Lake trail junction we turned around and hiked back-up to Brockton Point where we found a secluded spot on the snow for our lunch.

After lunch we returned to the trail to the parking lot with a short detour to Dinky Peak where we had a nice view of the Mt Seymour Sky Resort area.

This was a fantastic hike with great weather and great views.
